70 Million Added Funds Are Sought In Capital Bills

Appropriations Would Surpass
Record 411 Millions Sought
by Governor; Public Hearing Wednesday

Housing Projects

More Than 50 Million Would Go to Manhattan for Housing and Slum Programs

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP)—Legislation calling for appropriations of approximately $70,000,000 in addition to the $411,682,122 record budget proposed by Governor Lehman was before New York's legislature today as it set the stage for a public hearing next Wednesday on the executive's taxing-spending program.

More than $50,000,000 of the $70,000,000 sought in proposals of individual lawmakers would go, if the legislation were enacted, to various low-cost housing and slum-clearance projects in New York city.

Among Major Items.

Armory construction, flood control work and acquisition of forest land for state park purposes were among major items to which the remainder would be allocated, bills introduced showed.

Numerous organizations already have indicated they would oppose the governor's budget and his proposals for a direct state tax on real property, a two-thirds of one per cent levy on gross business turnover and a 50 per cent increase in the impost on hard liquor.

While legislators for the most part have awaited the public's expression before indicating their attitude toward the tax program, perusal of pending legislation revealed little hesitation on their part to demand state spending.

Armory Construction

Of the appropriations asked up to the estimated half-way mark of the current session, $3,560,000 is sought for armory construction or improvements in Richmond county, Brooklyn, Utica, Niagara Falls, Syracuse, Genesee, Rome, Buffalo, Hempstead, L. I. and Long Island City. Governor Lehman vetoed several so-called "armory bills" in an "economy drive" at the close of the 1938 session.

Governor Signed Bill

The governor signed another measure, which permits the use of the counties' share of gasoline and motor vehicle tax revenues to pay principal and interest on bonds issued for highway improvements.

New Bills Submitted

Limit the state board of standards and appeals to consideration of incorporation certificates of labor organizations only (Senator William Condon, Yorkers Republican).

Eliminate the "third degree"

by fixing the period of time after arrest in which prisoners must be arraigned (Senator Carl Pack and Assemblyman Ira L. Holley, New York Democrats).

Require dealers handling maple syrup and other maple products to register with agriculture commissioner (Assemblyman Howard N. Allen, Dutchess Republican).

Daley was sentenced yesterday to one year in the Albany County Penitentiary by Supreme Court Justice John MacCraty on a charge of illegal registration. He will begin serving the sentence upon completion of his term at Clinton Prison, Dannemora, as a parole violator, a term that has 11 months to run.

Of the eight persons who have pleaded guilty since the inquiry began, Daley and Mrs. Mina Folk are the only two sentenced thus far. Mrs. Folk drew a suspended sentence for failing to file a rooming house report.

Priests Honored By Congregation

Members of St. Mary's Parish Pay Tribute to Msgr. Stanley, Father Moore at Hall

Members of St. Mary's parish last evening paid tribute to Monsignor John J. Stanley, former pastor of the local church, and the Rev. James P. Moore, a former assistant. Both priests who were transferred to New York parishes on rather short notice, returned here for a belated farewell gathering with members of the parish.

Monsignor Stanley and Father Moore were presented with spiritual bouquets by the children of St. Mary's school and each was given a purse by members of the congregation.

The presentations followed a play given by the children, titled "Growing Pains." The purses were given by the Rev. William H. Kennedy. The play by the children was so well received by the audience that they have been invited to present it in New York at some future date. It was directed by the Rev. Benjamin C. Roth.

Monsignor Stanley expressed himself as delighted to be back among his friends and former parishioners in Kingston. The congregation here, he said, is more permanent, while in New York it often changes as much as one-third within a year. Father Moore also expressed his appreciation of the chance to see the people of St. Mary's again and invited them all to visit him in New York.

Monsignor Stanley is now pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes at 147th street, and Father Moore is an assistant at St. Gregory's Church at 90th street.

U. S. Asks Why Tokyo Seizes Hainan Island

Grew Asks Why

Tokyo, Feb. 17 (AP)—United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew today asked the Japanese government for an explanation of the Japanese navy's occupation of Hainan, Chinese island some 750 miles west of the Philippine Islands.

The request was made orally in an interview with Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita and followed by a few days similar requests by the French and British ambassadors.

It was understood that Arita's reply was similar to those he gave Monday and Tuesday to Charles Arsene Henry and Sir Robert L. Craigie, French and British envoys, respectively, that the occupation was for military purposes and also to tighten the Japanese navy's blockade of the China coast.

(Japanese last Friday began their occupation of Hainan, an island of 13,166 square miles and separated from the Chinese mainland by Hainan Strait, 15 miles wide at its narrowest point.)

The United States destroyer John D. Edwards returned from the island to Hongkong today after confirming that ten Americans at Hoihow and Kiangchow, two cities occupied by the Japanese last week, were safe.

(Fifteen other Americans were in Kachek and Nodou, which a Shanghai dispatch said the Japanese still had not occupied.)

(If the Japanese navy completes its occupation of Hainan, Japan will hold a 3,000-mile island chain stretching from Sakhalin southward through the Japanese Archipelago to Hainan.)

(Hainan is 150 miles from French Indo-China and on Britain's vital route between Hongkong and strategic Singapore.)

(French sources have held that the Japanese occupation violated repeated promises to France and Britain.)

Official Rome Attends Funeral Mass

For Late Pope; First Such State Tribute

Rome, Feb. 17 (AP)—Premier Mussolini and his ministers and King Vittorio Emanuele and Queen Elena attended a special funeral Mass for Pope Pius XI today—the first such tribute by the Italian state.

The day was one of official mourning in all Italy. The Mass, attended by fewer than 2,000 persons, was celebrated in the 340-year-old church of Sant' Andrea Della Valle.

The king, clad in grey-green army uniform and carrying a sword, and the queen in black with a long lace veil, sat on a dais draped with gold-trimmed, crimson tapestries. At the front of the dais was a prayer bench where they knelt from time to time.

BPW Ponders How Much Equipment Needed for Spring

Meeting Yesterday Afternoon Is Given Over to Problems of Local Street Building; Damage Claims Aired

With frost in the ground to a depth of 15 inches, and snow banked along the curbs in many of the streets a foot or more high, the Board of Public Works on Thursday afternoon turned its attention from winter to spring and summer operations, deciding to hold a special meeting shortly to determine what additional equipment, if any, was needed to carry on street building operations this spring in Kingston.

Another touch of spring was recorded in the minutes of the meeting when a request was read from John Schlot of 2 Lindley avenue, seeking the concession in Hasbrouck Park for the summer. Thomas Long has held this concession for several years, and also he is applying for its renewal. Both requests were referred to the park committee.

The annual request of the Immanuel Lutheran Church for the use of Hasbrouck Park for its Fourth of July outing and picnic was received and referred to the park committee. This church for a number of years has held a Fourth of July picnic in the downtown park.

To Collect Claims

It was brought to the attention of the board that two claims for damages to city property remained unpaid, although bills had been forwarded to the parties concerned. The first bill was that of $175 for damages to one of the city's barricades on North Front street at Green street where a lantern and globe was damaged when, it is claimed, a car driven by Andrew J. Cook, Jr., of 263 Albany avenue, had crashed into it.

The other bill was against Howard West of Port Ewen amounting to $51.20 for damages to the traffic standard at Broadway and Delaware avenue.

Both bills were referred to the corporation counsel for collection and it was also decided to notify the state motor vehicle bureau of the fact that these claims against the auto drivers had not been settled.

Depth of Frost

City Engineer James Norton in reply to questions from members of the board stated that in his opinion frost was in the ground to a depth of 15 inches. He also estimated that there were fully 1,500 catch basins in the city, and that there were 89 miles of sewer in operation.

Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding, who was attending his first meeting as superintendent, reported that within the past several days some 582 catch basins had been cleaned by the department and that the work would be continued until all were cleared of snow and ice.

Report of Hurricane

An echo of the hurricane of last September 21, was heard when the superintendent's monthly report was read concerning work accomplished in clearing up the debris from the path of the storm. There were 423 trees cut down and 569 stumps removed. The WPA workers employed on the project relaid 233 sidewalks.

The report stated that this WPA project was completed on January 27 as there was no more work to be done.

Robert Hyser Is Hurt Seriously, 2 Others Overcome

Fire Starts Apparently From Explosion of Oil Stove at 4 A. M. in 10 Below Zero Weather and Threatens Entire Village—Under Control at 10 A. M.

HALL, FIRE STATION DESTROYED

Zitter and Olin Buildings Also are Total Losses—Upper Floors of Honigsbaum Building Are Sacked by Flames

Fire, which broke out at 4 o'clock this morning in the business center of Tannersville, threatened for a time to sweep the entire village but shortly before 10 o'clock firemen believed they had the fire under control.

Damage was estimated at $150,000 by Fire Chief Verne Merwin.

Robert Hyser, fireman from Tannersville, was reported in a serious condition at the Tannersville Hospital after being overcome by fumes and smoke. His brother, Louis Hyser, also was overcome but his condition was not so serious. A third fireman, whose identity could not be learned, also was overcome but responded quickly to treatment.

Three buildings were completely destroyed, including the village hall and fire station, and a fourth was burned partially.

Apparent Source of Fire

Fire Chief Merwin said the fire apparently started on the second floor apartment of the Zitter place over a former confectionary store from explosion of an oil stove. In the Zitter building there was an unoccupied store.

From that building the flames spread rapidly to the Olin building and the town hall and fire station and also in an opposite direction to the large four and a half story Honigsbaum building where the upper floors were badly damaged but the flames were finally brought under control there partly aided by the sprinkler system with which the building was equipped and which was of great aid to the fire departments from four villages which fought the flames in a 10 below zero temperature.

So rapidly did the fire spread that it was with difficulty that Mr. and Mrs. Zitter escaped the building and were unable to save their personal belongings.

Flames Spread to Hall

Working their way to the west, the flames spread to the two-story village hall which also housed the fire department and then communicated to the Isaac Olin building, which housed on the ground floor a hardware store and on the upper floors of the three-and-a-half-story building was Olin's Commercial Hotel, a hotel operated in the summer by the owner. At the time Mr. Olin was in Rochester where he spends the winter. The hotel was unoccupied at this season of the year but in summer took between 30 and 40 guests. The Grand Union Food Market also was housed in one of the burned buildings.

Honigsbaum Building Burns

To the east the flames spread to the Honigsbaum building, a four-and-a-half-story structure which housed the department store. This building was equipped with a sprinkler system which aided the four fire departments in bringing the fire under control.

Boyce's Condition Remains Serious

Broadway Man Said by Police to Have Slashed Throat in Suicide Attempt Today

Adee Boyce of 626 Broadway was found in bed with his throat cut shortly after 2 o'clock this morning by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Boyce, who was awakened by hearing strange noises in her son's room.

After vainly trying to get in touch with a physician the family called police headquarters and Officers Reardon and McGrane in one of the police cars removed Boyce to the Kingston Hospital where his condition is reported as serious.

Boyce, who has been employed by A. H. Gildersleeve & Son, the wholesale produce dealers of central Broadway, has been under the care of Dr. Frederick Carr for the past three weeks.

From the story as gathered by the police after questioning both Mrs. Boyce and her son, the wound was self-inflicted. Boyce used a pocketknife which had a very long, sharp blade. Questioned at the hospital by Officer James Burns the injured man is said to have told the officers that he slashed himself with the knife because he was not feeling well.

The police took charge of the knife, which they say Boyce used in attempting to end his life.

Visitors may inspect the igloo made of sugar, but which looks very much like snow, the murals showing ice flows, Aurora Borealis and polar bears and the inhabitants of the far north. Mrs. Eck is planning to use some of this material in her assembly presentation which will be offered in a week or so.

The new style report card has proved very satisfactory both to the school faculty and the parents. Instead of setting a definite passing mark for all students, the faculty has attempted to individualize instruction. Every boy and girl is given a passing mark in every subject. In other words, Johnny Smith may be expected to do 80 per cent work in French and 90 per cent work in Algebra, whereas, Mary Jones may be expected to do 80 per cent work in French and 95 per cent work in Algebra depending upon the individual abilities of each.

The Social Attitudes marks which are included on the report card remain the same. These are used as a basis for participation in inter-school sports on the theory that a boy who is not a good school citizen should not be allowed to represent his school. The favorable reaction of the parents as well as the many comments received from them is beyond a doubt an outgrowth of the fine spirit of cooperation which has existed between the school faculty and the Parent-Teacher Association.

As announced previously, the public is cordially invited to hear the Office of Public Safety on Friday in the high school assembly hall at 3 p. m. This will be an opportunity for parents and friends as well as the pupils in the high school to hear one of the outstanding negro quartets in the United States.

Differences in flavor and color in honeys are due to the difference in the flowers from which nectar is gathered.

Bill Would Favor Property Owners

A bill, which seeks to amend existing law relative to taking of land for New York city water supply purposes and which if it becomes law will do away with a situation which in numerous cases in the past has resulted in injustices and hardships to property owners, was introduced in the Assembly, Thursday by Assemblyman J. Edward Conway of this city.

The bill follows the lines of a similar one introduced last year by Assemblyman Conway and which passed the Legislature, but which was vetoed by Governor Lehman, following disapproval by the New York Board of Water Supply and a later from Mayor LaGuardia opposing the measure.

The present bill, which meets certain objections raised by the New York City board against the former one, provides that when the city desires to take possession of property for water works purposes it must within a reasonable time pay to the owner a sum obtained by dividing the assessed valuation of the property, as shown on the assessment books for the previous year, by the equalization rate recommended by the State Tax Department.

The result, which would give the equalized assessed valuation of the property, is the amount which must be paid by the city at the time of taking. At its option the city may pay more than this amount, but not less upon agreement with the owner.

Assemblyman Conway said this morning that this payment would not necessarily represent the total award for the property taken by the city, nor does it furnish a basis for the final awards to be made by the commissioners of appraisal, as the latter award is presumed to represent the fair market value of the property taken. Neither does it disturb recent court decisions bearing on the subject.

At present the law provides for an immediate payment of a part of the assessed valuation, which in some cases is a comparatively small sum. As a result the property owner, forced to leave his home, on occasion has found himself with perhaps a couple of hundred dollars on hand while he faces a delay of as much as a year before he receives the full amount awarded to him.

The bill also clarifies the statute relating to such condemnation proceedings and among other things provides that a claimant may insist upon appointment of a commission of appraisal and also gives the commission the right to control the make-up of its calendar and dispose of claims in the order which to them seems most desirable. At present, the corporation counsel of the city controls the make-up of this calendar and the order in which claims are taken up.

money available for this work. The city's contribution in cash for this project was $6,924.19, which did not include the cost of three city trucks used by WPA forces during the month, nor did it include the sum of $1,137.11 for the purchase of tools, rope, chains, etc., from September 21 to January 27.

New Sewer Work

According to the report of City Engineer Norton on local WPA activities during January, a total of 1,157 lin. feet of sewer pipe had been laid that month in Abbey street, Hone street, Clifton avenue, Delaware and Jansen avenues and Cummings street, while 210 feet of 8 inch water main had been laid on Wood street.

After auditing bills the board then went into executive session to consider some matters with the city engineer.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Is He Boiling?
Richmond, Va.—J. W. Thurston visited police headquarters to get a permit for the sale of a half-ton boiler.
He returned to his home to discover thieves had stolen it from his basement.

Interstate Bump
Lancaster, Pa.—Sydney Napp's accident started in Maryland and ended in Pennsylvania.
Seated in the cab of his truck, he approached the Pennsylvania state line. The truck skidded, then began rolling over. Three rolls put it in Pennsylvania.
Napp came out of it with a bump on his head—from a horse-shoe carried in the cab for good luck.

If He Loses That?
Arkansas City, Kas.—Irked because he has misplaced engineering notes several times recently, City Engineer U. A. Lawie has prepared a vest pocket card index of the contents of his other pockets.

Cattle Hustlers
Helena, Mont.—Alman spare that beef.
A bill in the Montana Legislature would prohibit pilots from handling planes "in such a manner as to frighten livestock."
Senator Robinson charged plane-incited stampedes "have, often seriously affected the market value" of cattle by causing the animals to lose weight.

PENNEY'S

DANGEROUS SERVICE

by GRACE ELLIOTT TAYLOR

The Characters

Peter Mallone: Adventurous journalist.
 Petronella: His young sister.
 Tony Lance: British agent, the man Petrel loves.

Yesterday, Tony tells Petrel he loves her. Now that her dream has come true, Petrel is filled with misgivings.

Chapter 27

'Thou Art My Woman'

PETER had taken her almost everywhere, thought Petrel. Tony would try to protect her. He was strong, and self-sufficient. He did not need her, as Peter had once done. And what was this job of his? How much danger did he run? He seemed to her significantly alert. He had a way of glancing at strangers, even if he was talking to you. His eyes sized them up, subconsciously. Yes, she felt sure Tony Lance ran risks. She would have his love, but seldom his confidence. Was it going to be worth the strain?

If Aunt Maisie were here, thought Petrel. She smiled. Aunt Maisie had had such a very simple way of solving problems. She had believed that the answer to prayer was guidance. She would have said, "If you love him, risk it." Petronella knelt and prayed.

She was ready when Tony knocked on her door. She had changed her dress. She was smiling. Her eyes were shining. She opened the door.

He had brought her roses. As he gave them to her, his free arm encircled her, and drew her to him. She raised her face and kissed him. How hard and lean he was. She loved him for his brusque, awkward tenderness.

"Feeling better about me? Less angry?"

She nodded. "Subject to about a hundred questions receiving satisfactory answers, I'm crazy about you, Mr. Lance!" But now that she was with him again, with love thrilling through her, the questions did not seem so matter very much. What were your youth and love worth, thought Petronella, if you weren't willing to face life as it came, whatever it brought you?

"Wretched woman! I love you without asking any questions at all. For all I care, you may snore your sweet head off, and have a grumbling appendix. You may have a temper like a rocket, and a strong tendency to kleptomania. I'll cope with them all. I shall slap you into hospital to have adenoids, tonsils and appendix removed simultaneously. I shall read Shakespeare, to learn how to tame a shrew. And I'll take back all the things you pinch with abject apologies. Look, I've been shopping! It's not the real thing. Just a gold Arab ring, that expresses my feelings perfectly." He laughed down at her, teasingly.

"What do the characters mean?" she asked taking it.

"Thou art my Woman! It sounds coldly Oriental. I wanted you to have something. Will you wear it, keep it, whatever happens? Even if my answers to the questions are unsatisfactory, and you decide you'd rather be anything else on earth, and send me packing?"

"This new humility is overpowering," she teased him. She did not tell him that even if his answers were impossible, and she sent him away, the words on the ring would still be true. "Do you know you look about ten years old when you say sweet, stupid things to me. I believe you left a stern, grown-up young man called Anthony Lance downstairs in the lounge. I believe you're someone quite different."

"I feel different. But I can't believe you won't suddenly come to your senses. Let's have the first of these questions."

"Number one. Is it your idea that I should travel with you—go where you go? Or is it your plan to leave me, a fat, comfortable British housewife, wedding that garden, you're so keen about, Tony?"

"I may be sent back to China. I shouldn't take you there. But there wouldn't be any need for you to get fat while I was away. Wedding is thinning. And it might not be for long."

"But it might be a year, two years? Suppose I turned up?"

'Fat Housewife'

"I'd love wring your pretty, your lovely neck, and put you on the next ship home again. Honestly, you couldn't see much of me, even if I left you in some headquarters. Besides, I hope you might have something to occupy you at home. A young man or woman who wouldn't want to come to China."

"I see," said Petronella, still rebellious, although his tenderness pulled at her heart, urging acquiescence. "Fat, obedient British housewife, and baby, Tony. I was afraid of this! It won't do. Don't you realize, Peter and I?"

"Peter is a journalist. I'm not," he told her. "Don't think I underestimate your resource and courage; the things you have done these last years. I don't, Petrel. I promise you this. Wherever I could take you, I would. But my job—you have to take it on trust. It isn't always going to be possible. I can't even tell you why I'm here in Cairo until I've discovered that you can keep secrets. You see, there are things I don't know about you, either! But I do know I love you."

She was in his arms again. She smiled up into his eyes, her lips murmured against his.

"The other ninety-nine questions can wait."

Peter dined with them that evening, as Tony had suggested that he should. But it was not quite the family tête-à-tête he had had in mind. The journalists staying at the "Continental" were accustomed to sitting at one large table, for dinner. They saw no reason to vary their arrangements. The day's events in Cairo provided plenty of reason for meeting and comparing experiences. After a moment's hesitation, as she entered the dining-room and saw the long table laid for nine, Petronella was also content that it should be so. Tony should see this typical incident of her daily life, meet this representative gleaming of hers, and Peter's friends. It would be better for her if his vision of a peaceful, placid home life in England faded a little.

"If I thought she like that, she would be condemned to be his background, not his companion. If seven hard-boiled, keen-brained, caustic-witted newspaper men could not give him a new idea of her, nothing could."

Peter did not even trouble to sit near Tony. But Petronella did not mind. There was no need. For the first awkward ten minutes, after Peter surprised them over tea in the lounge, she had been anxious. He had spoken in grudging monosyllables, while, obviously, he tried to make up his mind what line to take with "this fellow of Petrel's." But he had seemed suddenly to decide in his favor. The conversation had abruptly broken loose. He and Tony had differed, wrangled, and forgotten her. Petronella had thought "this is how I want it to be." She had thought suddenly of James, with whom Peter also treated her like this, and smiled.

'Radiant Reflection'

PETER had strayed from his room to hers, to tie his tie in front of her mirror. She was sitting before it. His chin knocked her head gently aside. "Like the chap, you usually get a radiant reflection!"

"I'm glad. You were so darn high at first! As if it hurt you to speak."

"Well, you haven't much to thank him for, up to date. When I first saw him, sitting there with you, if I could have wished him back to Addis Ababa I should have done so without hesitation. I thought here's trouble! But seeing you with him and getting talking."

"Well, there's something about the two of you, when you're together, and something about him. I think I can understand how you feel. And I believe you're right."

"It was funny watching you come round. Peter, I'm so happy."

"You don't have to go about telling people that. They've got eyes. Bad luck to Mike."

"He finds plenty of compensations in Alexandria."

"I suppose so; not exactly a one woman man. What is the plan? Or are you both too crazy to be able to think ten minutes ahead?"

"He has three or four days here. After that, if I love him—Peter, will you stand by, to give me away at the end of the week?"

"Steady, steady."

"If I'm willing to risk it, what are your objections?"

"I don't know, but—"

"Will you miss me?"

"You know I will. But it wasn't that I was considering. I want you to be happy."

"That is asking a lot of life. But I believe Tony Lance is the nearest answer."

As usual, at dinner, the conversation was almost entirely "shop."

They all knew Tony Lance by reputation, and wanted to question him on Abyssinia, on his experiences in Manchuria and Arabia. Discussion raged first upon one side of the Italian question, then the other.

For once, Petronella did not rush headlong into the battle. She sat, smiling faintly, listening, watching Tony's face as he talked. She thought "he has a good voice." It was deep.

"The last I saw of it was from the shore of Port Said," he was concluding. "The transports were entering the canal, and the hospital ships were returning, laden with an unknown number of cases of malaria, dysentery, and typhoid. Personally, I think reports are exaggerated. Italy is having a comparatively easy campaign. She is not faced by a united country."

His eyes met Petronella's. He stopped speaking and smiled.

How often she had sat at a table like this, listening to these men, other men like them. Little had she imagined Tony would one day sit opposite her. Now, conversation veered nearer home, to the internal and economic problems of Egypt, and the question of a new treaty.

"You're quiet tonight, Petrel. What do you think?"

"Well, Egypt doesn't seem particularly happy as it is. There must be something wrong."

Masters turned to Tony, smiling. That's the way she shuts us up, when she's thinking about something more important."

How to Tell When to Sow Seed

Average Date of Last Killing Frost for Principal Cities. From U. S. Department of Agriculture Weather Reports

Christmas is a festival of spring. It is celebrated when the sun starts north from the equator. Newspaper headlines often proclaim that the shortest day of the year is the beginning of winter, but gardeners know better.

Once the days begin to lengthen, signs of spring appear in the garden. Buds swell, bark changes color, mysterious growth processes unfold even in coldest weather. With many hardy plants, the period of freezing is as necessary to their development, as the warmth which follows.

Spring is near at hand and it is time to make plans for sowing seeds just as soon as it is safe. How can the safe date be determined?

We hear a great deal from weather prophets who claim some secret system of predicting a season's temperature range or rainfall; and all of us at one time or another get an almanac which tells us definitely just how warm it will be on March twelfth or another day.

Refutation of weather prophecies may well be left to the weather itself. It can be depended upon to make ridiculous anyone who attempts to predict its course more than twenty-four hours in advance; a fact which the painstaking experts of the U. S. Weather Bureau can vouch for.

How then can the gardener be certain that when he plants he is free from danger of frost or other damaging weather? The answer is that he cannot, but he can be reasonably sure so that only in one year out of ten will he suffer from the weather.

The law of averages proves to us that from year to year the mean temperature and the rain-

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Some of the men I were tired. You could tell that. They were in various stages of undress, because they had been there since one o'clock, and it was now five. Some of the men had their coats off. Others had their neckties loose and their collars open at the throat. Eddy Duchin sat at the piano and ran his hand through his jet, curly hair.

He said: "Okay, once again for that ending."

The men picked up their instruments. Morton Downey stopped thinking about whatever he was thinking about and stepped up to the mike. Duchin's hand came down and the land, with Downey singing, played about five bars of "Heart and Soul." When it was over Duchin looked up towards the control booth. Harry Von Zell, the production man, nodded to him, and then Duchin dismissed the band.

WE WERE sitting in the control booth, studio 3B, watching the rehearsal with Von Zell, and several agency officials, and Durrell Alexander, the little Dallas, Texas girl who is Duchin's vocalist. Then Duchin and Morton Downey were coming into the booth, and Duchin yelled: "What was it, Harry, what was it?"

"A couple of clinkers sneaked in there," Von Zell told him. A "clinker" is a bad note. Duchin looked surprised. "Can't understand it," he said.

"Oh, it's old now. You're all right now," Von Zell assured him. "I hope so," Duchin said. "We've been here all afternoon and I'm tired. It costs a lot of money to keep these men on rehearsals. Harry."

"But it can't go out over the air unless it's right!" There was a lot of good-natured heckling, and then Eddy said: "How did it go? For time, I mean?"

One of the men in the control booth put his finger on his nose. That meant "Right on the nose" or "right on time." Sometimes during a broadcast you'll see production men signal an orchestra leader in this manner. Then he hasn't anything to worry about. If the show is running a little ahead of schedule, he makes a motion with two hands as if he were pulling candy or playing an accordion.

That means to stretch it out a little. If the show is behind schedule he makes a motion similar to the way you crank a car or turn an egg-beater. That tells the orchestra leader to step up the tempo, that he's running behind time.

THERE must be a thousand such signals which radio men know and use every day. You have to hang around and watch a lot of rehearsals to get into them.

You can choose the hard, tedious way of digging dandelions out by hand, but this will avail you nothing if you have thin undecomposed turf, and your neighbor across the way neglects to dig his dandelions. How those feathery tipped seeds do travel in the lightest breeze!

Or you can use a chemical spray if you wish, but this, too, does not make provision for bettering the turf so errant seeds will not germinate and get a foothold.

Financial and Commercial

Trading in Bigger Volume Thursday

Trading was in increased volume Thursday, total transactions being $50,000 shares and averages were up although closing below the day's high. The industrials closed with a gain of 0.79 point, to 148.39 in the Dow-Jones averages; rails were ahead 0.47, to 30.40 and utilities advanced 0.49 point, to 25.34. Foreign markets were steady. In London rail and industrial issues continued firm in a dull market; in Amsterdam American shares closed at the day's best. Paris Bourse closed better in inactive trading.

Commodities averaged higher. Cotton, wheat and corn were up slightly. Silk futures established the best prices since March 1937. A New Orleans refiner made a five point reduction in the price of refined sugar. Copper prices improved, the export metal advancing to ten cents a pound, the domestic price continuing at 11.25 cents a pound. Lead was cut to 4.75 cents a pound in New York.

Despite favorable news from several quarters Barron's index of business activity for the week ended February 11 showed a decline to 74.7 per cent of normal from the previous week's 75.1.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. has announced an increase in its prices, the average being approximately 2 1/2 per cent. The largest increase is on truck tires. Department of Commerce index shows that the new level of prices will be the highest since 1923 with an unbroken upward trend since the law of 1932.

It is stated that the steel companies will spend approximately $125,000,000 this year for new construction and equipment. Department of Agriculture economists see no sign of any serious or lengthy business decline; expect industrial output this year to be more stable than last and to continue on a higher level.

Some net income reports for 1938 included: Baldwin Locomotive, $1,032,641, net loss, vs. net income in 1937 of $407,377. Youngstown Steel Door, net of $49,536, or seven cents a share, vs. net in preceding year of $2,209,500, or $1.22 a share. Cutler-Mammoth, loss of $307,347, vs. net in 1937 of $1,274,469, or $1.93 a share. M. A. Hanna, net of $799,507, or 15 cents a share, net in 1937 of $3,048,462 or $2.36 a share.

General Manager Gilman of Packard Motors said that increased automobile buying in the spring would be reflected almost immediately in increased factory operations. He said that new passenger cars in dealers' hands, in factories and in transit are less than two-thirds as large as a year ago in number, while used car stocks are 21 per cent lower than they were in 1933 at this time of the year.

International Harvester declared a dividend of 40 cents on common, national Dairy Products ordered 30 cents on common and $1.15 on A and B preferred. Lily Tully Cup declared dividend of 30 cents. Lone Star Gas authorized 20 cents; paid three dividends of 20 cents each in 1938. Chesapeake Manufacturing Co. voted 80 cents extra and quarterly of $1.

Stockholders of Continental Can on March 28 will vote on a voluntary insured retirement annuity plan, for which all employees receiving $2,000 annually, or more, are eligible. If all eligible employees participate it will cost them $100,000 a year, with cost to the company about $300,000 a year for the first 14 years and $124,000 annually thereafter.

Agrees on Hearings

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Senate finance committee agreed today to conduct public hearings, starting next Tuesday, on the House-approved bill for reciprocal taxation of salaries of federal and state employees.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Stocks made some progress in today's market but the rallying vigor of Thursday was lacking.

Opening gains of fractions to more than a point were later reduced or cancelled in many instances. Selling was light throughout, however, with transfers at the rate of approximately 700,000 shares. Near the final hour small advances predominated.

Wall Street apparently still was moderately optimistic over the business outlook but some traders inclined to go slow pending more definite assurances the predicted spring recovery would eventuate.

In addition, the European picture continued as at least a mild restrictive influence marketwide, brokers said.

Aircraft, steel, rubbers and specialties gave a fairly good account of themselves, although the majority was unable to get far out in front.

Bonds were selectively improved, as were commodities. European markets were steady. Posting new 1938-39 highs were United Aircraft, Glean Martin, Marshall Field and N. Y. City Omnibus. Some subsequently slipped.

Favored the greater part of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Bendix, Loft, United Drug, Southern Pacific and Great Northern.

Higher tendencies in the curb were exhibited by Lockheed, American Cyanamid "B," Pacific Water & Power and Novadel-Agena.

Townsend Testifies

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Dr. F. E. Townsend told members of the House ways and means committee today they don't know what they were talking about if they considered a $200 a month ceiling for old age pensions "absurdly high." The tall, gaunt physician, sponsor of the pension program which bears his name, shook a long finger at the committee. "No family can live on $100 a month and rear and educate its children properly," he said. "If we can't establish a standard of living higher than $40, certainly we can't maintain our type of government much longer."

Baptist Church Sponsors Concert

An audience that nearly filled the Wurts Street Baptist Church attended the complimentary concert last evening at which a program of sacred and secular vocal and instrumental music was presented. The pastor, the Rev. Clarence E. Brown, welcomed the guests and made a few brief remarks concerning the program. He asked that the audience refrain from applauding the numbers.

Soloists for the evening were Edna Mae Affer, contralto, whose rich, resonant voice left a lasting impression with her hearers; Helen Sheldon, harpist, whose artistic abilities are well known to Kingston audiences; Estelle Rogers, soprano, who has an admirably trained voice and who sang intelligently and expressively; and Anna Griffiths Sheldon, pianist, who plays entirely with the left hand, thus overcoming a handicap in an amazing way.

In addition to the soloists, the combined choirs of the Church of the Comforter, the Wurts Street Baptist Church and St. Paul's Lutheran Church, sang two selections, "The Radiant Morn Hath Passed Away," by Woodward, and "The Lost Chord," by Sullivan, as the opening and closing numbers. The choir was under the direction of Herman La Tour. Paul E. Bannan was the organist and Harry Elmendorf accompanied the singers.

The list of composers represented was an impressive one: Woodward, Handel, Rameau, Chopin, Renie, Bach, Hasselmann, Spross, Godowsky, Duetzetti, Loschetsky, Dvorak, Schubert, and many others.

The numbers best enjoyed by the audience were "Ministry," by Gantz, in the first group of soprano solos, and the second group of solos, "Yesterday and Today," by Spross, "Iris," by Daniel Wolf, and "Though No One Sing," by Hildach.

The first group of piano solos, which consisted of the Bach-Joseffy "Gavotte," the Sforzetti, by Philip Emanuel Bach and the Saint-Saens "Fugue" and the Andante Finale from "Lucia De Lammermoor," by Duetzetti, were best rendered.

The harp seemed at its best in "In the Garden," by Schuetz, and "Pollets" and "Ghana," by Hasselmann. The contralto solos were all equally well rendered and it is difficult to choose which were the best. They included "He Shall Feed His Flock," from Handel's "The Messiah," "Sonnet Doi," by Handel; "Allah," by Chadwick; "Springlike," by Becker; "Songs My Mother taught me," and "I Wept, Beloved," by Dvorak, and "Gifts," by Hue.

The soprano and contralto voices were well blended in the two duets, "The Passage Bird's Farewell," by Hildach, and "Crucifix," by Faure.

Ushers at the concert were Charles Nestell, C. Lee Powell, James C. Legg, Fred Rich, Gilbert Barnhart and Dewey Bundy.

Newly Formed "Builders' Club"

Monday afternoon a group of Sunday School boys of the Roundout Presbyterian Church gathered at the home of their teacher, Mrs. George D. Logan, 68 Garden street, to organize a club. The name of the organization will be the "Builders' Club." The following officers were elected: Christopher Fido, president; Joseph Banks, vice-president; Kenneth Lowe, secretary, and Joseph Bell, treasurer.

The meeting was opened with the singing of hymns, followed by a Scripture reading by Joseph Banks, prayer by Christopher Fido, and then the regular order of business transacted. The boys decided to sell candy and at a later date hold a food sale. The purpose of the club, as its name indicates, is to build up good fellowship, a better understanding of Christianity and to help the church school financially through the sale of articles which the members plan to make and sell.

Dancing Print
Paris (AP)—"Dancing on the green" is the pattern of a printed crepe overrun with full skirted figures in Napoleon III costumes. Flourishes and bonnets are prominent details, together with playing children and romping dogs. Bianchini includes this effective design in the new spring fabric collection, worked out in pastel colors on a light ground.

Sure Seal For Jelly
A sure seal for jellies, jams and other home-made delicacies is two layers of paraffin. Place a thin layer of melted paraffin on the food when it has cooled and cover it with more paraffin, slightly cooled (it thickens quicker) and extend it over the edge of the glass or jar.

Our Growing Population
The following births have been reported to the Board of Health: Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hamun of High Falls, a daughter, Judith Marie, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanosky of High Falls, a son, Richard Martin, in Benedictine Hospital.

All-Around Gown
Paris (AP)—There is a certain frock going the rounds of Paris teas, cocktail and dinner parties and the night clubs. It's a day-skirted model in black moire, with a tailored bodice, full skirt, elbow sleeves, and a patent leather belt. It is styled to ride through the later hours of the day with all the aplomb it musters for the early.

Penguins' Playtime

WILLY NILLY knew that he should really attend to his sticking-out pointed ears, and that he hadn't any backbone when he let everything interfere with this job. And yet he was having such a good time and so were the Puddle Muddlers.

This was a treat that would happen, as people said, once in a whole lifetime, and he did want to enjoy the treat of the penguins.

Now the penguin parents were playing with the little ones. They had walking races, they even had running races, and the ducks raced with them.

All of a sudden Mrs. Johnny Penguin noticed that the babies were losing some of their soft, little gray down and were showing signs of feathers.

"They'll be ready for the swimming lesson in no time at all," Mrs. Johnny said to Mr. Johnny Penguin.

"We're beginning to molt, too," he said. "We like to do our bird molting at the same time. Fluffy and Downy get their first real feathers."

But the baby penguins wanted to play. They hit their little wings against their parents, who rubbed their soft backs and said:

"Coasting!" shouted the Puddle Muddlers.

"Coasting!" cried Willy Nilly. "We haven't had a real coasting party in Puddle Muddle this year. Only once and a while have some of us gone coasting—but not a party such as this will be."

And the ducks coasted and so did the penguins, and so did Sweet Face and Rip and Willy Nilly. Only Top Notch, the rooster, and Christopher Columbus Crow waited until they perched on sleds and then they joined the others. Sliding without any sleds was not what Top Notch enjoyed, and Christopher felt the same way, but the best coasters of all were the penguins. Even Fluffy and Downy took to it at once.

Home Service Avoid Common Errors In Raising Your Dog

Here Are the Right Rules

"My mistress knows what's good for me," Cappy's healthy looks proclaim. Proper care of a dog isn't complicated—it's just being wise enough to avoid common mistakes.

One error which may lead to skin troubles is frequent bathing. Soap and water dry up oils that keep your dog's coat glossy, healthy. Better to bathe him about three times a year, groom often with comb and brush.

Shall you clip your dog in warm weather? No, his coat protects him from heat and if clipped it may not grow back enough for protection in winter.

Does a meat diet make dogs go mad? Again no. He may have "running" fits if he doesn't have enough meat.

A mistake, too, to punish a dog who growls if disturbed while eating. He's showing not temper, but an alert spirit that means he'll train easily.

Be on the safe side in raising your dog. In our 32-page booklet, a noted authority on dogs discusses diet, ailments—their symptoms and cures. Tells how to keep your dog's coat in good condition, instructions for house-breaking, training, teaching tricks.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of HOW TO CHOOSE AND CARE FOR YOUR DOG to The Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and the NAME of booklet.

How to Ease CHEST GOLD MISERY

FIRST—massage throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. This relieves the distress.

THEN—to make its long-continued action last even longer, spread a thick layer of VapoRub on the chest and cover with a warm cloth.

LONG after sleep comes, VapoRub keeps working—loosens phlegm—eases muscular soreness or tightness—clears air-passages—eases coughing—relieves local congestion.

Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over. VICKS VAPORUB

Birthday of Troop 11 Is Celebrated

Scout Troop 11, of St. James Church, celebrated its second birthday anniversary Tuesday night, with a party at the church hall. About 80 scouts, parents and friends were present.

Jack Spader, a junior assistant scoutmaster, acted as toastmaster at the program which followed the dinner. Scoutmaster Ed Freese welcomed the guests and explained some of the troop's activities. He commended the junior leaders for planning the menu for the evening, soliciting the food, serving it and cleaning up afterward, also for planning the program of the evening. The leaders are James Martin, Jack Spader, Robert Short and James Castle.

Theron Culver commended the troop on its progress during the past two years and encouraged the boys to strive for advancement in rank. He also asked the parents for their cooperation in the work, that the troop might be of assistance to their boys.

George Johnson was called on and gave a detailed account of the three-day hike up Wittenberg mountain February 11-13. The various troop patrols then put on a stunt program which proved to be very amusing.

The evening closed with a presentation of the colors, pledge to the flag, giving of the scout oath and the scoutmaster's benediction.

A three-tier birthday cake was a decorative feature of the table and later was enjoyed by those present. The cake was made and decorated by Frederic Seeger, one of the scouts of Troop 11.

Mystery Visitors Have Big Feet

Donald Wilkes, chairman of the Mineral Committee for the Clinton Ave. Men's Club, made a Mystery Trip to the freight house on B-Way at Midway.

He made the trip in his closed car with all curtains drawn down tight and greeted two mysterious individuals who were dressed in long coats and who were heavily veiled. They alighted from a freight car and were promptly bundled into the waiting car and spirited away.

Our reporter states that at first he thought they were ladies but one look at their feet, which were encased in about size 18 shoes and which were decidedly flat, convinced him they were not ladies. These strange visitors will appear in the

Sights And Sounds

By Robin Coon

HOLLYWOOD—Deep in the heart of the jungle over the studio ice rink the junior Tarzan and his screen mamma walked hand in hand down a carefully promptly forest path to be surprised by a gang of stalwart blacks in the service of white explorers Henry Wilcox and Frieda Inescent.

And on the sidelines, his foot resting on a cage wherein reposed a sloth sleeping upside down, stood the junior Tarzan's papa—Reginald Sheffield.

"I shouldn't say it, being his father, but Johnny's a mighty little boy," said Actor Sheffield, who has been in plenty of pictures but is not in "Tarzan in Exile."

When I met Johnny I had to agree. He is a nice, tough little hombre, having a picnic swinging in prop trees in a join-cloth, and body make-up, it is in character that he shouldn't brush his hair much, which from Johnny's point of view is all to the good.

JOHNNY was an incubator baby, but at seven years of age he's bravner than most. He came into his big role via one of those nationwide talent hunts which, true to form, ended where it began—in Hollywood. Or at least with a Hollywood personality, "discovered" in New York. Johnny was one of the kids who alternated with Peter Holden in "On Borrowed Time" and that was when Daddy Reginald read in the papers about Tarzan's need for an athletic offspring. Sheffield took steps, via his agent, and it was in the bag. The Sheffield backyard in Hollywood is complete with all varieties of trapezes, ladders, and swinging equipment, to appease what their father calls the "monkey blood" in all three of his youngsters.

Johnny was good enough at swimming, too, and was immediately approved by Tarzan Weissmuller.

The senior Sheffield is English but Johnny, his brother, sister and mother are American. Sheffield himself has been in this country since childhood, coming over after playing the boy "David Copperfield" in England. He came to Hollywood in 1930 to play the romantic lead in George Arliss's "Old English," which shows how time marches if you didn't know. The erstwhile romantic lead is mostly and contentedly bald, plays characters like that of Kipling in "Gunga Din."

TARZAN junior's screen mamma is Maureen O'Sullivan, whose wedding ring is taped over for her jungle role, with some inconsistency when you realize that the jungle blacks—from Central Avenue—are allowed to flash their gold teeth freely.

Maureen, looking radiant and lovely, is happy in the Tarzan things regardless of what you may have heard.

Spring's on the way!
Get out and meet it!

Easy on the eye—easy to buy—on General Motors terms!

NO, we're not trying to beat the gun—we'll be seeing quite a lot of winter before the spring buds burst.

But spring always has come—and with it a sudden itch to get out and see the awakening world. And also—all too often—the sad discovery that to get the new car you want, you've got to wait till a flock of others get theirs!

So what? So take steps now—to meet spring halfway!

Forget that old, worn-out notion that there's a season for buying cars and a season for not buying cars!

Take steps to retire that slow-motion number you're driving now—and replace it with a Buick bursting with newness and get-up-and-git.

Put a Dynaflex straight-eight under your toe to do battle with tough winter going—get the comfort of BuCoil Springing to float you smoothly over rough and rutted roads.

Get a new outlook for winter horizons or for spotting the first flush of green on the meadows in Buick's "visibility unlimited," which gives you as much as 412 more square inches of safety plate glass to see through.

Then consider also: Your present car is worth less each day as a trade-in. The risk of repair bills grows steadily greater. Old rubber's dangerous, tired batteries a bore—and a bright new Buick is sound and supple all through.

Besides—the cost of keeping up an old car will go a long way toward meeting your monthly payments on a new one. And Buick's prices—as of course you know—are lower than a year ago, lower than you'd expect, lower than some sixes!

So why not drop in to talk it over? You'll probably want to get your Buick while the getting's good!

Middletown Varsity Plays Kingston High Quintet Tonight at Michael Gym

Perhaps the season most colorful basketball double-header will be staged tonight at the gym of the Myron J. Michael School. In the main attraction at 8:15 another of those peppy DUSO League skirmishes will be in order with Middletown opposing the undefeated Maroon and White warriors.

The other half of the twin bill will bring together the mighty Elks, present contenders for championship honors in the City League and Dick Whiston's City League and Dick Whiston's City League. This battle will get under way at the 7 o'clock bell.

After lengthy negotiations Coach Whiston and the Elks management finally agreed to a contest which has been on the fire since the beginning of the season. Banking mostly on Lou Sapp, Don Van Deusen and Freddie Rona the Elks will undoubtedly give the second team plenty of anxious moments. Whiston's forces will have Bill Hall, Gus Brimmer and Bob Sawyer for their mainstays.

The Maroon and White varsity quintet will be top favorites by game time. So far this year they have knocked over all kinds of opposition, numbering 12 games. In the past two seasons Kingston has picked up no less than 21 straight and by meeting the Middies tonight, there's on outright alarm for the snapping of such a spectacular skein of impressive victories.

After tonight's brawl with the Middies Kingston has only one more DUSO League competitor to entertain, Ellenville. The powerful quintet from Poughkeepsie High School is due also for an exhibition game at the auditorium boards later.

The lineups:

Kingston	Middletown
Shultis	Wallace
Lindhurst	Isaks
Van Houten	Quackenbush
Dubin	Holt
Murphy	Spelzer
Jayces	Elks
Ball	Toffel
Ferguson	Struble
Brinner	Renn
Luedke	Williams
Benjamin	Sapp

Brooks Soundly Trims Naccarato In Tourney 100-32

It seems that when Dave Brooks, the baby of the City Pocket Billiard Tournament, is good, he is very, very good. He defeated John Naccarato, the old woodchopper, in their match at Nick's last night by the runaway score of 100 to 32. Dave had a run of 27 for his best and several others of nearly a rack to hand the old veteran a handsome beating. Naccarato had only 11 for his best turn at the table.

Tonight, Walt Jeghers, the dark horse of tournament play, meets Mike Carpio, present holder of the high run record.

Ten Broeck Saves Headquarters Five

Last night First Battalion Headquarters basketball team chalked up another victory at the local 156th Field Artillery armory by defeating Battery B of Poughkeepsie, 35-23.

Headquarters started the scoring with two successive fields by Windram to take the lead in the first quarter. In the beginning of the second frame Poughkeepsie started to score heavily and led a lead of eight points over the local soldiers for a short time. Two fields by Ten Broeck and one by Windram pushed the soldiers' score to leave them trailing by two points at the intermission.

In the second half the score was close with both teams exchanging the lead. With a minute to play Poughkeepsie tied the score but a pushup by Ten Broeck saved the game for Kingston.

Ten Broeck and Windram took the scoring honors for the soldiers with 14 and 10 points respectively. For the Poughkeepsie artillerymen Tackas and Aldrich kept pace with Kingston to score 11 and 10 points apiece.

"Baby" Larkin did good work at the guard position for the locals and was responsible for checking the scoring spurt by Poughkeepsie.

This victory places the local soldiers in position for first place in the second round of the Regimental League. Next Wednesday the soldiers will take on the Point Packers of the City League at the local armory.

Trinity Lutheran Team Defeats Fair Street Club

Members of the Men's Club of Trinity Lutheran Church entertained members of the Fair Street Club Wednesday evening. The runner-up club in the City Dartball League defeated the Fair Street players in three straight games and gave some indications as to what may be expected when they meet the Port Ewen league leaders whom they will encounter in the City playoff at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church on Friday, February 24.

The Trinity Players defeated the Fair Street players three straight games while Fair Street defeated Port Ewen in their scheduled league match. Friday evening of this week the Fair Street Club is entertained by Port Ewen at a post-season game at Port Ewen. The outcome of that contest will be watched by the Trinity players with interest. Following the games Wednesday refreshments were served and other games played.

Aird-Don 5 Joins City League, Few Changes in Team Lineups

The Aird-Don Trojans were admitted to the American Division of the City Basketball League at a special meeting in the city hall last night. Regulations for governing the American Division during the second half were also adopted by the division managers.

The Trojans will bring the number of teams in the American circuit to eight. This makes a total of 14 teams in the league. The new team includes a roster of Slater, Bill Thomas, Al Sheehan, Joe Bernato, Al Cahill, Ed Noonan, Chet Fox and Bob Lockwood.

Team rosters for second half play are due on Tuesday of next week. However, several of the managers have already announced changes in their lineups. The Uptown Merchants will field a strong team to include Tommy Maines and Eddie Minasian. Manager Ray Schneider has also secured the release of Van Buren and Sarkis from the Kalamazooos.

Irv Kreppel, basly J. Y. A. forward, has been released by Manager Ben Bell, and will play with the Elks. The J. Y. A. has strengthened its lineup with the addition of Ben Cohen, Bud Kline, "Fish" Basch and Herra Kreppel.

It was decided to adhere more closely to strict amateur interpretations during the second half, using the five-time-outs and four personal fouls rulings.

Second half of the American Division will get under way on Thursday, February 23, provided the existing tie for first place between the Elks and Boston Cleaners is broke. Both teams play on Tuesday night, the Cleaners meeting Fullers, while the Elks play Kalamazoo.

Mrs. R. F. Browning Elected President of U. S. Collie Club

Mrs. Robert F. Browning of Tokalon Kennels, Woodstock, was elected national president of the Collie Club of America at the conclusion of the Westminster Kennel Club Show held in Madison Square Gardens, New York city, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

The Collie Club of America is a national organization of collie breeders and exhibitors and is one of the oldest specialty clubs. This is the first time in several years that a New York breeder has been honored with this offer.

The Tokalon Kennels had the largest entry of collies at the dog show, benching 10 and had several winners. The golden sable and white Tokalon Peaches Browning was the best novice and reserve winners bitches, and with her sister, Tokalon the Village Belle, who was winner of the junior dog and bitch class, were awarded the best brace of collies in the show.

The father of these dogs, Tokalon and Crown Prince was a winner in the American bred class. A litter brother of the two puppies, Tokalon, First Choice, was a winner in the puppy dog class.

Best novice male was awarded to Tokalon, the King's Honor. The best blue male collie in the show was the famous collie Tokalon Blue Print. The best blue collie bitch in the show was also bred by Mrs. Browning.

Best tri-color collie was Tokalon Ringleader and the best tri-color female was her mother, Tokalon Black Helen. The second best puppy female was awarded to Tokalon Perfect Lady.

Three Games for 'Y' Volley Team

The Kingston Y. M. C. A. volleyball team will tour to Schenectady to play three games in the Inter-state Volleyball League. Opponents will be Schenectady, Pittsfield and North Adams in three consecutive games. The outcome of these matches is important for it may mean, if Kingston emerges on the long end of the scores, a place in the playoff.

Skating Finale

The figure skating season comes to a climax next month when the Skating Club of New York presents its sixth annual ice carnival at Madison Square Garden. Four performances of the carnival will be given, March 24, 25, 27 and 29, for the benefit of the Bellevue Hospital Social Service and the Carroll Club.

BEST DOG IN BIG SHOW

The prize for best dog in the annual Westminster Kennel Club show in Madison Square Garden, New York, went to Ferry von Rauhelsen, (above) two-year-old Doberman Pinscher, bred in Germany and brought to this country by Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge of Madison, N. J.

Then—And Now

15 years ago Walter Johnson was ready to pitch the Senators into the World Series.

Today Johnson is a Maryland farmer. He has been elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Wheler Scouts For the Senators

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Something new in big league baseball developed today—The Washington Senators have a real senator scouting for them, Burton I. Wheeler (D-Mont.).

The protégé of long, lean Senator Wheeler is one Mike Green, 18, an infielder from Ashland, Mont., who hit .481 last year. He's just showed up for work.

"Green," asked Trainer Mike Martin, "your name isn't on my list. Who sent you?"

"Senator Wheeler," Green replied. "You sure you're not looking for a government job?" Green said he wasn't.

"My, my," said Martin, "this is the first time in 40 years of baseball I ever heard that one." Young Green—according to the folks back home—played a whale of a game with Sheridan last year, making but one error and hitting the pitchers everywhere. Capital fans admit a real issue has been raised. Is Wheeler setting a precedent?

A lot depends on how Mike Green works out.

Youth Says He Set Fire

Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 17 (AP).—Detective Captain William Peters said a youth confessed today he set a $100,000 fire in the Odd Fellows temple because he was put out of a dance two years ago by a member of the lodge. Arthur Miner, 23, was taken into custody after a false alarm today. Captain Peters said while he was being questioned he volunteered the information he set the fire which destroyed the temple and damaged two apartment houses Sunday.

Two Youths Are Killed

St. Joseph, Mo., Feb. 17 (AP).—Two of four youths police said died last night in a stolen car after escape from the Nebraska Reformatory at Lincoln were killed when the car skidded on an icy road and hit a tree. Wilber Miller, 20, died in a hospital today. Vernon Lee, 20, had died earlier. Samuel Sutton, 21, and Ernest Amiranella, 19, were in serious condition. An officer said Amiranella told him they had stolen the car near the prison grounds.

About the Folks

Harry L. Kirchner, past-commander of the Kingston Post No. 150, American Legion, has returned from the hospital where he has been ill for several days.

Mrs. Frank Rockwell of Granite Court, who underwent an operation on February 2 at the Kingston Hospital, returned to her home Thursday afternoon.

Cathedral Overflows

Munich, Feb. 17 (AP).—A vast congregation overflowed the Munich Cathedral and crowded Cathedral Square today when a requiem Mass was celebrated for Pope Pius XI. Among those who attended were about 100 members of former Bavarian aristocracy.

Condition Still Critical

Joseph, the 7-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sottile of North street, still remains critical at the Kingston Hospital where the child was taken following his rescue from his burning crib several weeks ago.

Taxpayers Taking Care of Ulster's Crippled Children

To the Editor of The Freeman:

Enclosed herewith is a copy of a letter recently sent by me to the Editor of the Leader.

I am asking you to publish it in your paper for the reason that it states the facts regarding what is being done for the physically handicapped children of this county, concerning which it seems to me the public should be enlightened in order that they may give due credit to the taxpayers.

Very truly yours,

FREDERICK G. TRAYER,
County Judge

February 15, 1939

To the Editor of The Leader:

An editorial appearing in a recent issue of the Leader entitled "The Lottery," concerning the "lottery" lately promulgated under the auspices of the "Executive Committee" of "The Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday" in this county, has just been called to my attention.

This editorial contains an attack, more or less veiled, upon District Attorney Murray and upon me on account of our purely official activities which, it is claimed, prevented the consummation of the "lottery."

It is not my purpose to interpose any defense to this attack further than to remind you that, this is not the first time that such a "lottery" has been stopped in this county and that, during the fifteen years, from 1915 to September, 1930, throughout which period I served as district attorney, in every instance where such a "lottery" was brought to my attention, (and there were many of them mostly sponsored by special and charitable organizations) such "lottery" was suppressed because in each instance such "lottery" involved a flagrant violation of the law, and I am informed that the present district attorney has pursued the same course, as it was unquestionably his duty to do.

My real purpose in writing this letter is to correct, if I may, a false impression created by the "bright young man" who wrote this editorial in the last sentence thereof which reads as follows: "This committee gave of its time and money while a very few people took the attitude that if infantile paralysis strikes it just means that somebody is very much out of luck."

This sentence, if it means anything, means that, because of my attitude and that of the district attorney in this matter, children afflicted with infantile paralysis in this county would, during the coming year, be deprived of all help, care and treatment.

In answer to that, permit me to point out to you that you do not have to violate the lottery law or any other law in order to furnish care and treatment to victims of infantile paralysis in this county or in any other county in this state because the legislature has very wisely and completely provided for all such cases by statute, all of which the aforesaid "bright young man" would have learned had he taken the trouble to look up the law.

Let us take a look at the record. Unless I am misinformed, the Birthday Balls in this county netted to the committee last year, for the benefit of infantile paralysis patients, a sum not in excess of $300.00. Not a very large amount, but your editorial conveys the impression that, without that help, all such patients would have been "out of luck."

Now permit me to show you another view of the situation. During this same period (1938), when this committee had only $300.00 to devote to the care of such patients, the sum of $8,741.00 was, upon my orders, as judge of the children's court, expended for the care and treatment of physically handicapped children from this county, and may I state further that, since I took office, January 1st, 1931, thousands of dollars of the taxpayer's money has been spent for that purpose and that no application for help in caring for or treating any case of infantile paralysis has ever been denied, during all that time, where the parents of the victim were unable to pay.

May I therefore direct your attention to the fact that, although members of the "Birthday Committee" are entitled to credit for their efforts, such contribution as they were able to make to the cause, constituted less, in 1938, than the proverbial "flea bite" in comparison with the large sum paid by the taxpayers of the county and state, and it seems to me that it is about time they received some credit for taking care of the crippled children of this county not only last year but for many years in the past, long before the "Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday" was ever heard of.

I ask you, Mr. Editor, to publish this letter, only because it states the facts (hitherto apparently unknown to your editorial writer) and tends to enlighten the public generally as to the manner in which the taxpayers, who up to this time have received no credit, are, and have been for years past, taking care of Ulster's crippled children, without which care such children would most certainly be "very much out of luck."

Very respectfully yours,

FREDERICK G. TRAYER,
County Judge

Once a Little Boy

Richmond, Calif., Feb. 17 (AP).—William Oldham, painting contractor, was a little boy with a kite once himself. So when a little boy's kite lodged across the top of a telephone pole yesterday, Oldham climbed the pole and released it. Then he lost his grip and fell. Hospital physicians said Oldham, 44, had a fractured left leg and serious spinal injuries.

IN THE POWELL FOOTSTEPS young Norman Scott Powell, 4, seems to be following as he takes a trumpet lesson on the instrument Dick Powell played in his vaudeville days. With them is Film Actress Joan Blondell (Mrs. Dick Powell).

Delay of Month On Radio Ruling

prevent an unnecessary "cluttering up" of the air.

Several witnesses were called before the commission to show need, financial responsibility, technical ability, programming plan and economic support of the station.

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman testified as to the need for a station here for the broadcasting of civic and educational matters from the viewpoint of the city. Fred Stang, representing Robert A. Snyder, chairman of the board of supervisors, testified on behalf of the county board of supervisors and told of the use to which such a station would be put in distributing county matters. Mrs. H. P. Van Wageningen established proof need for public promotion of work as a representative of the County Club women.

John McKenna, president of the corporation making the application, testified as to technical and engineering matters. Mr. McKenna of this city will be resident engineer for the station and will be resident manager and technical advisor at the station when established.

Kurd Speaks for Farmer

Al Kurd, manager of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, told of how the station would serve the agricultural interests of the county and the different rural organizations and spoke of how a station could further the work of these organizations.

C. Ray Everett testified as to the economic support which has been pledged and said the station was financially responsible, no stock was to be offered and the corporation now has on deposit in a local bank sufficient funds for the construction and operation of the station and told of arrangements which had been made for programs.

The hearings were held before an examining committee of the Federal Communications Commission and all testimony taken was recorded through a system of microphones on record discs and this testimony will be transcribed and with the recommendations of the examining board will go to the commission for final decision. It may be two months before action is taken. If this preliminary hearing now held meets with favorable action the city will be practically assured. Should the commission grant the license sought it will be for a six months period and renewals will have to be made at the expiration of such periods.

Felix Gives Views

Edgar Felix, radio engineer, testified as to the engineering end and testified that radio receiving facilities in this locality were not adequate. He said the signal from the local station would not interfere with any of the existing large stations or the smaller local ones.

An Engineer for the Commission

An engineer for the commission concurred in that fact. Testimony was taken as to background of Ulster county, its history, commercial interests and the farming interests and as to how a station could serve these interests in the county by broadcasting social, educational and commercial programs. It was stated that there would be much "free" time for the broadcasting of current information by local organizations.

Daytime Programs

A license granted would be for daytime broadcasting between sun-up and sun-set but application may be made later for an extension of hours.

Assuming that a license were granted and allowing for time for the commission to act, and 30 days for construction it would be at least May 1 before the station could be placed in operation.

Teller & Halverson are Architects

Teller & Halverson are architects for the station which would maintain studios in the Governor Clinton Hotel. These plans were submitted to the commission as well as plans for the transmitter house and aerial which will be located at some point to be determined after tests as to where the most effective location may be.

Woodstock Station

The aerial would be a 200-foot steel tower. There would be a large and smaller studio in the hotel as well as control room and it is planned to have an auxiliary studio in Woodstock and also to maintain a portable 20-watt transmitter set which could be moved to points where pick-ups will be sent to the station at the Governor Clinton and sent out over the usual transmitter. This auxiliary transmitter will be sent to various points in the county to pick up programs there. Roland Bradley is to be program director and arrangements have been made for holding auditions and arranging programs as soon as a license is granted and during construction time so that the station may go on the air with a suitably arranged program as soon as work is completed.

Under the by-laws of the corporation there are to be five directors, three already filed and two will be local men appointed to act in an advisory capacity to voice their opinions on station policy.

$150,000 FireAt Tannersville

Hunter Lexington, Catskill and Windham fought the flames. The fact that there was no wind at the time saved the village center from complete destruction and residents of the village today gave the firemen great credit for their valiant efforts.

The village hall building was of frame construction but was sheathed with metal siding.

Trial Nears End

New York, Feb. 18 (Special).—Both sides rested today in United States District Court here where blue men have been on trial for a week on charges of counterfeiting. The money, according to witnesses, was made in Hudson and distributed in High Falls, Newburgh and other parts of the state. Principal among the defendants is Joseph Landano of New York, who has a long criminal record. The other defendants also are claimed by the government to be "old hands" at the counterfeiting business. After a charge by Judge Grover Moscovitz tomorrow, the jury will get the case.

San Franciscans Are Ready
For Golden Gate Fair Opening

San Francisco, Feb. 17 (AP).—Gaily garbed San Franciscans, who have been celebrating all week in anticipation of the opening tomorrow of the $50,000,000 Golden Gate International Exposition, reached the climax today of their pre-opening festival.

An illuminated parade tonight is the final event of the city's Wild West festival. After the parade, the crowds will go to vantage points to see the first complete illumination of Treasure Island, exposition site.

Turnstiles at the exposition began whirling at 8 a. m. Saturday. A quarter-million persons are expected the first day. The exposition will run 288 days.

Exposition officials say that the 400-acre island in the bay has every attraction that anyone could hope to find. There are beautiful buildings and courts, flowers, and pools. There are educational exhibits and there are others that are designed only for amusement.

Four men were injured seriously yesterday when an elevator dropped them 70 feet down the shaft of a 182-foot high ski jump.

Opening day honors will be shared by an international ski jumping event and a $70,000 live-stock show.

The illumination of the island tonight will occur at 10:30 p. m. (PST) when a ray from the noonday sun over Bombay, India, sets off a radio signal turning on the $1,500,000 Treasure Island lighting system.

At 10:30 a. m. Governor Olson and his official party will be escorted to the symbolic entrance. There, with a jeweled key made by the California Jewelers Association at an expense of $35,000, he will unlock a miniature "golden gate" as a gesture of welcome.

Shortly afterward, President Roosevelt will speak by radio from Key West, Fla.

Gilbert White Dies in Paris

Paris, Feb. 17 (AP)—Gilbert White, American artist whose murals decorate many state and federal buildings in the United States, died today in a Paris hospital.

Noted internationally as a painter, White was an active and colorful member of the American colony in Paris. Bred in front, he wore his hair in the back almost to the shoulders.

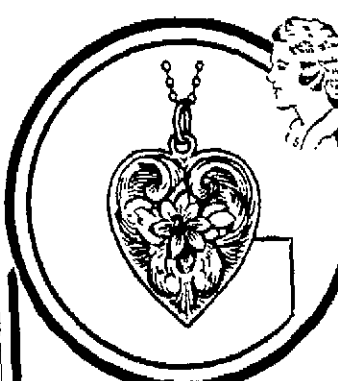

He succumbed to complications from an operation on Saturday for an intestinal obstruction.

White was born July 18, 1877, at Grand Haven, Michigan and attended public schools in Grand Rapids. He studied later at Columbia University and the Art Students' League in New York city.

Whistler was among his teachers. Early in 1924 he was the center of controversy over a 40-foot panel he did for the new department of agriculture building in Washington. Rexford G. Tugwell, then assistant secretary of agriculture, criticized the mural as "too classical" but the painting finally was accepted.

He was a brother of Stewart Edward White, author, and Roderick White, violinist. He was married to Bertha Stenger, an American, in 1928.

Wicks and Conway Sponsor New Bill

Albany, Feb. 17 (Special)—Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Assemblyman J. Edward Conway of Kingston have introduced in their respective houses of the Legislature, two bills amending the children's court act, both of which were referred to judiciary committees for further consideration.

The first of these bills provides that a children's court judge may commit, instead of discharge, a child to the care and custody of the public welfare commissioner or other board or department authorized to receive children.

The second measure provides for payment by a city treasurer of bills for care and maintenance of children committed by a children's court judge to a public welfare commissioner within a city welfare district.

Assemblyman Conway is also sponsor of an amendment to the New York city administrative code, designed to expedite the acquisition of lands for the New York city water supply. This bill went to New York city committee, of which Mr. Conway is a member.
